

- 2009 Château Le Bourdieu Médoc ($22)
"This is a lovely Cru Bourgeois: very pure and feminine on the nose with crisp red berries, redcurrant and candied orange peel. The palate is fleshy but not cloying with layers of ripe sweet red fruit, leading to a very lithe sensual finish where the oak is supremely well integrated." ~ Wine Advocate
- 2007 Tenuta Col Sandago Wildbacher ($20)
100% Wildbacher
Tenuta Col Sandago nestles among the hills of the Conegliano Valdobbiadene where it has preserved and sustained the rare Wildbacher ~ a thick skinned low yeild grape. The wine ages for 20 months in large oak barrels and it take several years in bottle for the tannins to soften up. The wine is intently aromatic with notes of berry fruit and concentrated spices. It is full ripe fruit with fine prominent tannins that linger with a great nose-palate symmetry.
13% alcohol by volume
- 2011 Domaine la Barroche Châteauneuf du Pape ($40)
65% Grenache, 35% Syrah, Mourvedre, and Cinsault
"Vivid ruby. Dark berry and floral scents show very good clarity and spicy lift. Offers gently sweet black and blue fruit flavors that spread out with air, picking up subtle anise and sassafras nuances and a hint of white pepper. Lingers with very good energy and spicines and gentle tannic grip." ~ Josh Raynolds
Was $70, Now $40
